It is not so clear cut just who the school board will name as the high school football coach Thursday night (tonight). There are a lot more ap- gie Head, Chanda Callaway, Wilplications and apparently several are well qualified. We have heard several names batted around of coaches who have applied, but are sure of only one. That means we honestly don't know who will get the nod .. but of one thing we are sure. This week we have heard three different individuals mentioned as "sure bets" because of inside information the talker(s) possessed. At least two people have been getting bad information, because there ain't but one vacancy and only one person can get

Alas, the $40,000 opening at Elba High School for an athletic director is just a dream! We had heard it said at school board meetings that there would be no AD after Coach Wood retires, but still ... Rumors persisted this week that such a position was going to be created and it prompted this country newspaper boy to ask for an application blank! All we got Head. was a puzzled look and "we have told you several times there would be no such title and this is still our position."

Affirmative Action is presently on the front burner, especially in political circles. There is a lot of discussion about doing away with the rules and laws which brought about this civil rights related process. A number of polls show the majority of people feel it is time for a change. But even that is tilted by racial balances. Maybe, since we are classified as belonging to the majority race, our view of affirmative action is not clear. However, we believe it is an insult to qualified adults to feel a job opened up, not because of a person's abilities, but because a quota needed filling.

The Brantley Bulldogs have again won a state championship! They make their teams known, regardless of the sport being played. After moving up a step to the 2A classification this year, they showed they were not flukes by repeating as state basketball champs. It seems this school is ready to take on all comers in whatever class they are assigned! We watch with awe and congratulate them.

A week or so ago we were given some facts and figures about water rates across the state. The information was from a packet members of the Elba W & E Board were given when they were considering the water rate increase, approved in November. Our comments of getting complaints about the increased rates prompted the delivery. First, we ain't quarreling about the rate increase ... it probably should have been done three years ago. The numbers we got last month show the new Elba rate below the state AVERAGE in every case. However, we still have the original packet and are quick to point out that Elba now has higher water rates than a number of communities. All that means little, as the experts say we should be improving our lot in life, not comparing it with the status of

It is not so clear cut just who the school board will name as the high Vinson Hammonds, Lue Head, Magschool football coach Thursday night (tonight). There are a lot more applications and apparently several are well qualified. We have heard several names batted around of coaches who have applied, but are sure of Wallace, Irene Lamprey, Jemison only one. That means we honestly don't know who will get the nod ... but of one thing we are sure. This week we have heard three different individuals mentioned as "sure bets" because of inside information the talker(s) possessed. At least two people have been getting bad information, because there ain't but one vacancy and only one person can get Alas, the $40,000 opening at Elba High School for an athletic director is Magwood, Bertis Johnson, William just a dream! We had heard it said at school board meetings that there would be no AD after Coach Wood retires, but still ... Rumors persisted this week that such a position was going to be created and it prompted this country newspaper boy to ask for an application blank! All we got was a puzzled look and "we have told you several times there would be no such title and this is still our position."

Affirmative Action is presently on the front burner, especially in political circles. There is a lot of discussion about doing away with the rules and laws which brought about this civil rights related process. A number of polls show the majority of people feel it is time for a change. But even that is tilted by racial balances. Maybe, since we are classified as belonging to the majority race, our view of affirmative action is not clear. However, we believe it is an insult to qualified adults to feel a job opened up. not because of a person's abilities, but because a quota needed filling.

The Brantley Bulldogs have again won a state championship! They make their teams known, regardless of the sport being played. After moving up a step to the 2A classification this year, they showed they were not flukes by repeating as state basketball champs. It seems this school is ready to take on all comers in whatever class they are assigned! We watch with awe and congratulate them.

A week or so ago we were given some facts and figures about water rates across the state. The information was from a packet members of the Elba W & E Board were given when they were considering the water rate increase, approved in November. Our comments of getting complaints about the increased rates prompted the delivery. First, we ain't quarreling about the rate increase ... it probably should have been done three years ago. The numbers we got last month show the new Elba rate below the state AVERAGE in every case. However, we still have the original packet and are quick to point out that Elba now has higher water rates than a number of communities. All that means little, as the experts say we should be improving our lot in life, not comparing it with the status of were issued: one for speeding, two for driver's license required, one for

ROUND AND ABOUT WITH ERIA - 897-2006

By Martin Gray Music & Youth Director Elba First Baptist Church

In the late thirties there was a statistician that worked for Bell Laborato ries by the name of William Edwards Deming. Deming observed that the system by which most American companies were run was inefficient and self-defeating. Attempts to gain the ear of U.S. execs were futile as the war era had production numbers up and profits soaring. No one saw any need to Following World War II, Deming was invited to Japan to help rebuild Japanese industry. History has written the results of his efforts. Years later CBS ran a special entitled "If Japan Can Do It Why Can't We?" Response was immediate and American companies began to inquire of Deming's work. In an attempt to summarize his theses, Deming wrote what is now known as Deming's Fourteen Points. These points and Deming's philosophy of Total Quality Management (TQM) have taken assembly lines and board rooms by storm.

One of Deming's points reads something like this: "Cease dependence on inspection." Deming observed that when a worker is only motivated by the ominous inevitability of inspection quality suffers. Only when the workciated with that product can he/she be expected to put forth consistent and continuous quality. Mind you, Deming never proposed the elimination of inspection. He knew that even in the best of circumstances the possibility of numan error or omission was still real. Yet he surmised that inspection was

Secret of the Unknown Creature by A.J. Davis

One night I was in the woods and I saw something strange lurking so I decided to take a look. So I did and the moment I got near where the creature was lurking, something horrible jumped down and swiped a claw at me. It had a crocodile-like mouth and was ten feet tall with a horn on top of his head. It also had one eye. Since I didn't know what it was, I was scared. I jumped back and was ready to charge but right before I could, he made a horrifying noise that hurt my ears. Nobody knew about the creature. No one knew where it lived so nobody was curious about it. I was alone in the woods with just my dog and when Cocoa heard the noise, she started whining because that hurt her ears, too. Suddenly creatures came from the trees and from the ground. They were similar to the creature that called them with the horrifying noise. And right before they swiped their claw and scratched me, I remember that I was working on a flashlight my treehouse and it was a good thing I was at the trunk of where the treehe was. My treehouse had a lock on the door stronger than the monsters and my door was made of metal so they could not break it down. I struggled up the treehouse rope ladder, and I got inside and locked the door. Finally, I fixed my flashlight and shined it in their eyes. And that was the end of the Melissa got her cast off the other day and as glad as she was to get it off, I think I was at least equally as glad. I had to substitute for Melissa with some of her household chores, such as feeding the dogs, changing the cat litter and helping fold the towels, and one chore I also gave up with joy was the daily washing of Melissa's hair in the kitchen sink. I know Melissa had a lot of hardships during the time her arm was on the mend, but it wasn't that easy for the parents, either!

ELBA BASEBALL SCHEDULE GETS TOUGH AND TOUGHER

Coach David Lowery released the 1995 Elba Tiger baseball schedule las week and I think Coach Lowery has succeeded in putting together a schedule that is even tougher than some of the football schedules Elba has faced baseball season next week and the Elba staff, and his success on the in recent years. The Tigers will challenge such teams as 6A Enterprise; 5A Tigers will once again be looking to mound could reflect the success of powers Greenville, Andalusia and Opp; 4A power T.R. Miller, and two-bring home their first ever state time defending state 1A champ G.W. Long. Area rivals Luverne and Louis- baseball championship. ville are on the schedule, as always, but the Area games are crucial, which While winning the state title is means there are no easy games anywhere to be found. One thing for sure, always the goal of the Tigers, the the Tigers won't face anybody in the playoffs any better than the teams they road to the crown in '95 could be faced during the regular season.

ELBA GRADS STILL MAKING NEWS AT COLLEGE

The college and junior college baseball seasons are now underway, and is filled with nothing but tough opfor Elba baseball fans, that means former Tigers are busy at work. Hayden ponents Young is a starter at shortstop up at Huntington and is rated as the top college shortstop in the state, while Shane Blanton is a back-up catcher at Alabama and waiting his chance to step into the line-up. Marcus Tyson and Joe Donaldson are both getting plenty of playing time over at ESJC, and up at Southern Union, Cory Driggers is in the starting rotation as a pitcher and is doing very well in his freshman year. Keith Grantham got red-shirted at Opp, 4A T.R. Miller and two-time L.B. Wallace and is sitting this year out, but all in all it is a good year for defending 1A state champion G.W. the former Tigers.

BRANTLEY BULLDOGS GET RARE THREE-PEAT

The Brantley Bulldogs continued an amazing run in the sport of bas-ketball last week when the Bulldogs claimed the 2A state championship, giving the Bulldogs their third straight state basketball title. Brantley won the 1A crowns in '93 and '94 and some rivals complained that the Bulldogs every sport once we make it to the were really a 2A school after the closing of Dozier, and won only because they were actually playing against smaller schools. Well, the Bulldogs had only one starter back off the '94 championship team this season, but made make it to the 3A playoffs." the move up to 2A and brought home the crown again. Know what? They probably could have won the 3A crown, also!

TELEVISED TITLE GAMES ARE TREAT FOR FANS

I watched the championship games in both 5A and 6A Saturday on TV, and as a true basketball fan, was thrilled that WAKA in Montgomery cared enough about high school athletics and its fans to televise the games. A lot of people can't make the long trip up to Birmingham to watch the new "Final 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to nal 4" tournament, but nal 4" tournament, but with the game being on TV, the fans get a chance to team's #2 starter; however, Hudson ond-base, (junior) Jason Smith in watch their favorite teams play without leaving the house. I still don't like the fact Birmingham is the host of the Final 4 event; however, if the state's TV stations will televise the games, I may at least quiet down a little.

Senior Charles Bozeman will return to handle the catching chores and should be much improved after being thrown into the fire with no experience last season, while junior Todd Grantham has moved from third-base to first-base, and is expected to be one of the team's top hitters and fielders.

Outfielders Che Vaughan and Chris Tyson will both return to give the Tigers solid experience in the outfield, and at the plate. Vaughan, a senior, was a long-ball threat last season and is being highly-touted for his athletic ability, and Tyson, a junior, brings back a live bat and excellent speed both in the outfield and on the basepaths.

'95 Bulldogs add another chapter to history book

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Brantley High School has had one of the most successful athletic programs in the state for many, many years, and Bulldog fans can vividly recall a rainy night spent in Millport with the football team, a weekend in Montgomery with the softball team, and many nights all across the state following the basketball team. All those sporting events are chapters in the rich history book concerning Brantley Bulldog athletics; however, no chapter will be recalled with any more pride than the chapter written this season as the 1994-95 Bulldogs marched to the school's third straight high school basketball cham-

The Bulldogs strolled past practically all challengers back in 1993 when they claimed their first state championship and boasted a 32-2 record, and posted an identical 32-2 record the next season when the Bulldogs made it two straight titles. With two-time state tourney MVP Derek Caldwell and All-Tournament players Andrew Kilcrease and Andretti Daniels gone from the '94 championship squad, 1995 was expected to be the year that Brantley's foes paid the Bulldogs back for the poundings of years past. It wasn't to be!

Brantley did get off to somewhat of a slow start, and for the first time in years, failed to win a tournament during the holidays. The Bulldogs did bring home consolation honors from Andalusia and Troy, but played only two games in the prestigious Dothan Progress event, and even though the tourney losses were to 3A Aliceville, 4A Pike County and 6A Dothan, rumblings were heard that the Bulldogs' days of being the "Big Dog" on the block were over. A winning streak after the holidays quieted much of the doubters; however, losses to Monroe County, Greenville and J.F. Shields late in the season revived the rumblings, and left the Bulldogs with an 18-7 record.

Brantley was far from being on a roll, but the Bulldogs were beginning to look more like a contender, and '94 All-State performer Adrian Person had stepped up his game and scored 30, 31 and 28 points in the closing games of the regular season. A 31-point outburst in the Section finals made it clear that Person was primed for a run at the title, and he then scored 36 points in a Region win against Washington County and led the team with 14 points in the Section finals as the Bulldogs edged defending 2A champ J.F. Shields. Person was ready, and his late-season surge had proven to be contagious, as the entire team had evolved into a true state title threat. At the "Final 4," Brantley looked like a true championship team as seniors Adrian Person, Eric Crenshaw and Jimmy Burnett combined to score 118 points, pull down 53 rebounds and dish out 14 assists in the two wins. The trio hit on 49 of 94 shots, hitting over 52 percent of their shots in front of thousands of fans at the spacious Birming ham-Jefferson County Civic Center. While the senior trio did lead the way to the title, it was a true team effort as seniors Karon Howard and Ivan Christen combined for 18 points and 18 rebounds, and the underclass combo of juniors Mareo Jones and Austin Cauley, along with freshman Shapale Austin, combined to chip in 14 points and 10 rebounds. Senior Ashley Carlisle failed to see action at the state tour ney, but the three-year letterman was a valuable member of the team and was a team leader both at practice and in the games. Coach Tony Stallworth had guided the Bulldogs to a record of 64-4 over the past two years and two state titles, yet the coach was under-rated, and many felt like he won simply because he was blessed with some of the state's top athletes. This season was the year everyone would find out what kind of coach he really was. Now we all know! It was a team effort, and a team championship The '93 champs were the team that survived a snowstorm to win their title, while in '94 the Bulldogs were billed as the best team in the state, regardless of classification. The '95 champs will be remembered as the team that refused to listen to the reasons why they couldn't win a state title, and simply stuck together, and in the end brought yet another state championship trophy to the Brantley High School trophy case. The Brantley "Sports History" book is already filled to the brim; however, the winning tradition has survived throughout the ages, and you can bet another chapter has already

Tournament tidbits....

*When the Brantley Bulldogs claimed the 2A state basketball championship last week, it placed the Bulldogs into the state record book as only the fourth team ever to win three straight state titles, and the first team to accomplish the feat in 36 years. Other teams to boast of doing a "three-peat" were Simpson in 1923-1924-1925, Geraldine in 1931-1932-1933 and Austinville in 1957-1958-1959. Brantley is the first team to accomplish the rare feat since the state expanded from its two classification format in 1964.

*Brantley joined an elite club consisting of only two other schools last week when the Bulldogs won back-to-back state titles in different classes. The Bulldogs won the 1A title in 1993 and 1994, then moved up to 2A in 1995 and added yet another title. The back-to-back titles in different classes had previously been done by only Holy Family (1A-1986 and 2A-1987) and Francis Marion (2A-1990 and 3A-1991.)

*Brantley's total of 150 points scored in the two tournament games would have broken the scoring records in three of the six classes; however, it fell far short of the overall scoring record set a year ago. By the way, the overall scoring leader heading into the '95 event was none other than Brantley, with 174 points scored only a year ago.

*The Brantley Bulldogs are used to playing in front of big crowds, but last week's games at the Class 2A Final 4 have to be a record for the three-time champs. A crowd estimated at 2,135 was in attendance at the opening round game, while in the title contest a noisy crowd of 8,240 watched as the Bulldogs won their third straight state title. Over 10,000 fans were on and for the two games, which is ten times as many from the plants, you should purchase potted bulbs in the tightbud stage. If bought in full bloom, the flower will last only seven to ten days in the house.

Forced bulbs open quickly in the warm environment found in most homes. Keeping bulbs in a bright location where the temperature is 55 to 60 degrees F adds about five to six days to the floral display. An alternative idea is to place bulb pots in a breezeway or other cool place where they can be seen often and

If you want to delay flowering in potted bulbs, hold the plants at between 35 and 40 degrees F to retard growth. At these temperatures, the plants can be stored for up to two weeks without deterioration in quality. A refrigerator or unheated garage would provide this environment. For bulbs, the cooler the temperature, the better the plant form and the longer the flowering. If forced bulbs get too warm, they will stretch or elongate, and become unsightly Light is also important for indoor bulbs. If it's too dark, the plants will elongate toward any available light. To obtain the highest quality forced bulbs at the best price, look for those sold in season in plain pots. Although individual growers' production times may vary, these are the peak seasons for flowering bulb plants: Daffodils: mid-January through April 1 (usually plentiful): Tulips: mid-January through mid-

April 1; Crocus: January 10 through March 1; Iris reticulata: January 15 through February 15; Grape hyacinths: February and March. Forced spring bulbs can be planted outside for reblooming. After a bulb blooms, put it in a bright window, stop watering it and let the foliage dry out. Then the bulb can be

More than 350 Alabama farmers will gain insight into how key fac-tors such as the budget deficit and the change in leadership in Congress should impact American agriculture when they visit the nation's capital March 11-15 as part of the Alabama Farmers Federation's 1995 Wash-

Dignitaries scheduled to speak to the group include U.S. Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., and Alabama's two U.S. senators, Republican Richard Shelby and Democrat Howell Heflin.

The agenda also calls for the farmers to attend U.S. Agriculture Department briefings on issues ranging from economic outlook to food safety; hear predictions from House and Senate Democrats and depublicans on how farmers will fare under the 1995 farm bill; and talk one-on-one with their congressmen during breakfast meetings.

"This is a crucial time for farmers in Alabama and nationwide, be cause Congress is about to begin de-bate on the 1995 farm bill-legislation that will determine the irection American agriculture will take over the next five years and beyond," Federation President Good-win L. Myrich said. "This trip will give our farmers the chance to learn firsthand what the political climate is toward agriculture and the opportunity to make their voices heard on Bulbs are unique, self-contained plants. They can be planted in pots and exposed to specific environmental conditions to bring them into bloom during winter. Florists and garden centers display them for sale for people who desire a little floral color in their home.
